Congratulations to Ivan's Army who held off a spirited assault from Dave's Deadbeats to win the Accent Curtains and Blinds Perpetual Trophy. A rejuvenated team of Deadbeats (due mainly to the inclusion of Jeremy Pigou and Michael Smythe) pushed the Army all the way but couldn't quite pull off an upset that may have seen Nev's Nobblers take out the title.

Steamboat Tournament

Don't forget to get your entries in for the Steamboat Tournament, which will be held on Saturday 23rd and Sunday 24th January. There will be a Yankee event on the Friday night as a warm-up. Download your entry form from the club web-site.

Not to be missed is the steamboat cruise on the Saturday night. Michael Smythe will be mesmerising the audience with his jazz band. There will be a prize for the person who can ram a tennis ball furthest up a clarinet and for the rudest thing that can be done with a trombone. This is one event bound to be a feast for the eyes as well as the ears.

FINALLY

Paige and Kyle continue to astound with their performances on the big stage. Kyle fell to the impressive Elliott Darling in the third round of the national under-14 championships but Paige has gone all the way to the final and at the time of writing will have been locked in battle to take top honours.

I hope everyone had a great christmas and happy new year. The old Wanga wind is making it a bit interesting on court but hopefully that's not stopping too many of you from wielding the racquet.

Enjoy your tennis.
